

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has greatly decreased the number of telemarketing calls my household use to receive. These calls not only came during the week but late in the evenings and on week-ends which was an intrusion of my precious time. I don't want anyone calling me on a product. If I am in need of a product I will do the shopping/investigating. I do not want my privacy taken away by intrusive telemarketers. which I thought of as
